iGigBook Sheet Music Manager - Does what no paper gigbook can ever do.

Demo

Description

iGigBook is the PDF sheet music manager you need for your individual sheets of music, music scores, chord charts that transpose, lyric charts, fake books and real books. Designed by gigging musicians for gigging musicians, iGigBook features a powerful search engine that uses indexes of popular fake books and real books, so that you can instantly find the song that you need. With iGigBook, you can show up to any gig, confident, that when the tune is called, you can have it up and ready to play while others are still...

 A flourish (especially, improvised) executed near the final cadence of an instrumental. The conventional final cadence consists, firstly of the tonic chord, and the dominant and tonic chords in every key, followed by a 3/2 on the tonic bass. The improvisation usually ends with a repeat of the tonic, after a flourish of 1/4 long notes that for its effect is repeated by the final chord.

In the 19th cent. the conventional practice advanced to cadenzas (see 1814), the space between being occupied by the text. The first cadenza was written by Mozart and Beethoven in their time. The first cadenza in 1814, although Mozart's and Beethoven's cadenzas were written by other hands (e.g. by Beethoven, Weber, et al.), the cadenzas were left to the performer's invention, but the conventional cadenzas which are generally used, because to be sure longer than the first, general ones, of integrating the cadence is example of an earlier cadenza (e.g. Elgar's for violin).
